Event Description

This should describe the event that is being proposed and include date, time, location, etc.

American Institute of Budget Proposing would like to host a seminar on writing budget proposals. This seminar will be helpful because it will allow students to learn proper procedure for writing budget proposals.

This seminar will be April 9, 2023, from 1 pm – 2 pm. It will be offered during the day to allow all students the best opportunity to attend. Snacks will be provided so students who have a lunch break can have some food.

Advertisement will be done through the use of flyers, social media posts, the University calendar, and word of mouth.

Event Objectives

This section should summarize why the event/activity is important and the benefit it will have to the organization/campus community.

This seminar will be very beneficial because it will help students see the importance of budget proposing. It will also allow students the opportunity to learn how to write a proper budget proposal. Budget proposing is used in real world companies along with being used for Student Government Association funds.

This seminar will benefit WVU Tech in several ways. The seminar will be free to all students and all majors are welcome to attend. Also, the skills learned at these seminars will be useful in the job market and careers. Students will learn how to make better budget proposals for both the Student Government Association Budget Committee and to supervisors during the student’s career. Better budget proposals will help the Student Government Association Budget Committee to be more efficient and allocate funds more appropriately to organizations.

Cost Breakdown

This section will break down the costs associated with the event as well as where the funding will be coming from for each portion of the event.
